ABSTRACT

This study investigates the variation of address terms occurs in a fantasy novel entitled Percy Jackson and the Olympians: lightning thief. The study focus is to find the type of address terms and its social factors. In addition, the study use Wardhaugh (2006) theory of address and Holmes (2012) theory of social factors term to assist the writer in comprehending and analyzing the data obtain from the novel. The descriptive qualitative method is use for the research design. The data analyzed was in the form of conversation taken from the novel by describing and interpreting each context of datum. Based on analysis, the writer found 51 data of address terms which categorized into 8 types of address terms Fust Name (FN), Last Name (LN), Title plus Last Name (TLN), combination of Fust Name and Last Name (FN+LN), title only (T), Pet Name (PN), Kinship (K), and lastly Mockery (M). It shows that Mockery is the most common address term in the novel Percy Jackson and the Olympians: lightning thief. There are several social factors that influence the variation of address term. Each of them has different strength to give impact in the choice of address term. It can be seen that, the distance between participants is the most influential social factor in the use of address terms. Then, it is followed by intimacy which also has the most impact in the use of address term.
