VIDEO 1. Dear Class 2020

<https://youtu.be/AU6uF5sFtwA>

Dear class of 2020, it's been a strange year so far. But you made it. Today, we might not have flowers and we might not have graduation caps. What we do have is possibly the most special graduation ceremony in history. Never before have so many gathered to celebrate a graduating class for their achievements and their dreams. You could be watching us from your bed or from your living room alone or with somebody. Wherever you are, you will all soon be breaking out of one world, soar into another. Ten years ago, it snowed really hard on the day of my middle school graduation. I remember that day clearly because I took a picture with my friends and kept it as my messenger profile for the rest of my school years. On that day, I was just a boy who had closed just one chapter ready to pen another. And I remember that feeling. It's really thrilling, breathtaking. It was a moment I felt most like me myself, a feeling I wanted to hold on to forever. So as a fellow individual in his twenties all the way from Seoul, Korea, I want to say, congratulations. We're very excited for what lies ahead of you. Dear class of 2020, I hope our stories reached you all today. To be really, really frank, we still feel very unsure and unsettled as we speak. Just like that day, we left the school gates for the last time on graduation day. Some say we have achieved so many things, but we stand no different from any other youth in their twenties. Our graduation caps still pressed to our heads and awkwardly peering into the face of reality. The recent unforeseen events completely changed our plans and the sense of loss and anxiety we felt then are still with us today. The fear of an obscure future as our daily lives turned upside down is a moment of realization of the self, the realization of what makes me a true me, myself. Us, as musicians, we are pulling ourselves together by making music. We write songs, we produce, and we practice as we think about the people we love. And it connects to the world during such difficult times and with music, we hope we can bring you smiles and courage again. And V just mentioned memos and the photographs. For us, our way of remembering and communicating is to make music. For you, it could be anything. And our music and in our hearts, and in the time that we break out of ourselves, we're alone, but also together. We may be seeing each other through just a camera and this small screen, but I know your future will bloom to something much bigger and magnificent. Graduates, friends, family, faculty, today, you stand with us, the largest graduating class in history. We sincerely congratulate you on your graduation. Congratulations, class of 2020.

VIDEO 2. BTS Speech At 75th UN General Assembly

<https://youtu.be/5aPe9Uy10n4>

Thank you, Representatives of the member states of Group of Friends of Solidarity for Global Health Security, UNICEF Executive Director, Excellencies and distinguished guests from all around the world. It is a great honour for us to have this valuable opportunity to speak in a session in the 75th UN General Assembly. My name is RM the leader of the group BTS. And two years ago here, I asked your name. I urge you to let me hear your voice. And I let myself be filled with imagination. As a boy from the small city of Ilsan in Korea, as a young man standing at the UNGA, as a global citizen of this world, I imagine the limitless possibilities before all of us, and my heart beating with excitement. But COVID-19 was beyond my imagination. Our world tour was totally canceled. All of our plans went away and I became alone. I looked up but couldn't see the stars at night. When I start feeling lost, I remember my face in the window, like Jung Kook said. I remember the words I spoke here two years ago. "Love yourself, speak yourself." Now, more than ever, we must try to remember who we are and face who we are. We must try to love ourselves and imagine the future. BTS will be there with you. Our tomorrow may be dark, painful, difficult and we might stumble or fall down. But the stars shine brightest when the night is darkest. And if the stars are hidden, we'll let moonlight guide us. If even the moon is dark, let our faces be the light that helps us find our way. Let's reimagine our world. We're huddled together tired. But let's dream again. Let's dream about a future when our words can break out of our small rooms again. It might feel like it's always night and we'll always be alone, but the night is always darkest before the first light dawn. Life goes on.

VIDEO 3. BTS Love Yourself Tour in New York 2018/10/06.

<https://youtu.be/eytdBBsYneM>

Through this "Love Yourself Tour", I'm finding how to love myself. I didn't know anything about loving myself. You guys taught me. Through your eyes, through your love, through your tweets, through your words, through your everything. You guys taught me, and inspired me how to love myself. And loving myself is my whole life goal, until my death. And you know, what is loving myself, what is loving yourself? I don't know. Who can define their own method and the way of loving myself? It's our mission to define our way to love ourselves. So, it's never intended but it feels like I'm using you guys to love myself. So I wanna say one thing, please, please choose me, please choose BTS to love yourself. Because you guys taught me how to love myself, everyday.

VIDEO 4. BTS Online Concert MOTS ON:E 2020/10/10.

I just wanna say one thing in short, We are literally strong, the ARMYs I know, and the BTS you all know, we all strong. We'll find away, we always have. If there's no way, let's draw the map, a whole map again. So, no worries, we're strong, we're still connected, even the waves come, catastrophe comes, wind fall, snow fall, rain fall, anything. So let's not doubt ourselves, let's believe in ourselves, and I love you so much, truly. I hope you can know that, I love you.

VIDEO 5. BTS Live : RM 2016/11/28. (26:10-28:34)

<https://weverse.io/bts/live/3-104695757>

So, I'm saying that, you know, there are a lot of people who are currently watching this, and there are a lot of youth and young people who feel like they're strange. Am I, you know, just like in the song Am I Wrong, am I too thoughtful, or am I having too many thoughts in my mind, too much chaos in my mind, am I the only person who thinks like this, think too many times, and again and again and I really feel sometimes desperate. But you know, what I could see is that so many people in the world right now are feeling the same thing. I think that can be named after chaos, or youth or many things. But, I just want to say that, you know, a teacher told me that, you know in your 20s, if you have so many thoughts, that's like branches on a tree. It's like a you know, if my brain is a tree and there are so many branches. You know, there is sadness, there is desperation, devastation, there is happiness, hope, everything. But when you get old, it gets cut and when it gets the shape of a tree, we have to feel pain, and we have to experience many things for that time. But, after that, in your 20s, I mean, your 30s and 40s. If you've got so many branches when you're in your 20s, you feel sad and sometimes you would get lost, like I said in the song Lost, if you get lost, maybe some day you'll finally be a really beautiful tree, in your 30s and 40s. I sometimes meet some really good and cool, I don't know the word, but dope, old people. And they've got the attitude, like they've experienced so many things. So, maybe we can one day have that. Some day.
